

EQUAL VOICES 2012 Women's Summit: Sept 14th

Chris Owens
Director

The Women's Summit, September 14th, is an opportunity to generate ideas and discussion. Attendees will come away with greater understanding of the issues they choose to explore, new ideas and the tools to find solutions.

The Summit voices will be both voices with experience on workshop topics and voices of new discoveries.

We'll talk about history and women; the status of women today. We'll learn about problems, solutions, and where to go from here. The most important question will be: What do you think?

From the opening remarks on the status of women, from Eleanor Jordan, Executive Director of the Kentucky Commission on Women, to the final session, "The Impact of Fear on Memory" it will be a full and informative day!

Outline of the Days Events:

Eleanor Jordan, Executive Director of the Kentucky Commission on Women will give opening remarks on the status of women in Kentucky.

What We're Learning from Women Like You: Mary Johnson, MPH, Kentucky Women's Health Registry (University of Kentucky Center for the Advancement of Women's Health)

Successful Networking and Mentorship: Representatives of the Junior League of Louisville and Nancy Warfield, a 'first' woman, currently Brown-Forman Research & Development Process Manager.

Career Coaching: Dr. Hope Zoeller, Founder and President of HOPE (Helping Other People Excel), LLC is also a member of the Center for Nonprofit Excellence faculty.

Impact of Fear on Memory: Melissa Edlin, State Coordinator for Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner Program, University of Louisville, and Eddie Farry, Law Enforcement Instructor at Kentucky Department of Criminal Justice training.

In addition, the Summit will host:

Sessions focusing on the voices of survivors of intimate partner violence, coordinated by Mary Byron Project and the Coalition on Intimate Personal Violence in International Communities.

The Center for Women and Families will offer a workshop showcasing CWF's Community Violence Prevention work.

Walking In Her Shoes: An interactive workshop on accessing services as a victim of "domestic" violence.
